

He Heals the Brokenhearted

Hello friends. Has your heart been broken? Has your heart been bruised? There is comfort in the words of Jesus found in Psalm 147:3 "He heals the brokenhearted and binds up their wounds." In all our sorrows and trials, Jesus is near if we invite Him in. He who was rejected by the people He came to save understands a broken heart. He who was crucified by the beings He created understands pain. He who died for a world doomed to destruction understands your love for those who have hurt you. He experienced more suffering than any man will ever be called upon to bear. He bore the crushing weight of the sins of the whole world. So when we are faced with heavy burdens we can take them to Jesus. He understands. But why, you may ask? Why do we have to go through such sorrows and tears and pain? Perhaps it is for these reasons: 1. To draw closer to God. "But as for me, how good it is to be near God! I have made the Sovereign LORD my shelter, and I will tell everyone about the wonderful things you do." Psalm 73:28 2. To help others in their sorrows and trials. "Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies and God of all comfort, who comforts us in all our affliction so that we will be able to comfort those who are in any affliction with the comfort with which we ourselves are comforted by God." 2 Corinthians 1:3,4 There is hope for the future. Someday there will be an end to suffering, tears and pain. "For the Lamb on the throne will be their Shepherd. He will lead them to springs of life-giving water. And God will wipe every tear from their eyes." Revelation 7:17 So friends, if you haven't made Jesus your Friend, I invite you to do it today. Don't delay. He will come again as He promised, not as a bleeding Lamb, but as a conquering King, ruler of all nations!
